

Candace French Bio

Candace French is a professional Mixed Media Artist who blends brilliant colors, textures, and light. Her paintings involve many layers of concealing, revealing, and enhancing that capture the viewer's eye and create a sense of mystery. Taking an intuitive approach when painting is vital to keeping her creativity and playful expression alive. Candace rediscovered her passion for art and the healing power of creativity after experiencing the loss of her brother. Now, with an ever-expanding range of mixed media, she is inspired to create and teach art for the joy of it and to bring joy to others.

As an art teacher, Candace's approach is engaging and inspiring. Through one-on-one and group instruction, participants are encouraged to align with their truth and creatively express it. Individuals, small groups, and teams have found the experience fun and for some, truly transformative. Certified as a Pébéo Mixed Media Product Specialist, Candace French is one of 25 global Pébéo Art Educators. She offers a variety of classes and workshops online and throughout the Denver metro area.

Candace's passion for teaching expands into non-profit organizations and corporations. As a best-selling co-author of the book Speaking Your Truth, Volume I, she is involved in special events and speaking engagements focused on the benefits of exploring creativity. For community involvement, Candace French is a member of the Art Students League of Denver, Contemporary Fine Art International, and the Parker Artists Guild.

Born and raised in Ohio, Candace now lives in colorful Colorado and is the proud mother of Lauren who attends college at The Ohio State University. Her artwork has been exhibited at galleries, and public places, and is part of private collections. Candace's artwork can be found at ROX Arts Gallery in Littleton, Colorado.
