Heritage Art Guild Workshop – April 6, 2019 Christa MacFarlane

Hi Mary Kay!

I wanted to thank you again for all the wonderful workshops you arrange for us. Yesterday's the Versatility of Acrylics with Christa MacFarlane was so interesting and informative! She gave us many new (for me, at least!) ideas for handling this medium. Her approach of using the acrylics in a much thinner way provided effects somewhat like watercolors but giving us the ability to glaze and paint on raw wood.

We just loved the look! I also liked her methods of using simple forms from nature as inspiration.

I found her demo of and making a sampler sheet with so many of the new ideas very helpful. I imagine I'll refer to it many times!

Having the critique at the end of class is always so helpful, not only to see what our fellow artists created, but how-to problem solve as well.

Thank you again...and we are always excited to see what we will learn next!

Thank you Roxanne for your great write up.

President's Message

Heritage Fine Art Guild Members and Friends:

I know it sounds like it, but this message really is not a broken record... Thanks to the very unfavorable weather gods this year, I find myself announcing it for the third time: the program for the May 8 Guild Meeting will be the same hands-on, communal painting event we had planned twice before. Hoping for better luck this time, Mary kay and I got started on a couple of canvases this evening... Above is an example of two bottom squares (each of the 18x24 in canvases is divided into 6 sections) as well as the two mini-canvases we painted as nametags, which can be seen below. There should be plenty of canvases, big and small, to keep everyone busy. As mentioned before, the Guild is supplying these, along with acrylic paints and an assortment of brushes, although you are welcome to bring your own if you have any suitable for acrylics (small brushes come in handy for those 2x2 in minis!).

At the May Meeting, we will also be voting for the new HFAG board members & appointed officers for the 2019/20 season. I am hopeful we can fill the remaining vacancies and thank you in advance for stepping up and helping out!

On a final note, I would also like to thank all who participated in the Bemis Show that just came to an end and the art drop-off/framing event for this year's Healing Arts Show. Despite the lack of opportunity to promote the latter, we had a great turnout, and Mary Williams was able to put together another very nice show. Be sure to stop by Littleton Hospital to see it through the end of June, at which point the paintings will again transfer to the Denver Community Credit Union until the end of August.

I think it's snowing again while I'm writing this, but hopefully by next week, spring will finally be here to stay and, as always, now is the perfect time to get involved and keep painting!
